Teaching and Research Experience:

I have an academic interest in teaching and research; this is reflected over the years in active participation in teaching of medical students, residents, and midwives and several lectures and thesis and articles which were under my supervision.

I have given several lectures to GPs, Obstetrics and Gynecology trainees.

Clinical Experience:

During my training in Obstetrics & Gynecology, I have worked in both obstetrics and gynecology. Currently, I work in a referral teaching hospital with a turnover of about 50-70 patients per day, mostly, complicated obstetrical patients. My interest is perinatology, fetal-maternal medicine, high risk pregnancies and modern obstetrics. In my present position, I visit many referrals in the obstetrics and high risk pregnancy wards.

Courses:

I have attended the following courses:

- Research Method Workshop; 1990.
- Obstetrics Ultrasound, 1993-1994.
- Breast- feeding Workshop, 1993.
- Teaching Method Workshop; 1997.
